

First Showing of Autumn Fashions

Attractive New Suits for Women

Smartly tailored Suits are very much in favor this season and these new arrivals we are sure will appeal to the women of this city. The fabrics are of good quality tricolone, gabardine, poplin and serge and they are well tailored in the favored straight line effects. The colors are navy, brown, green, beet root, taupe and black. The prices are surprisingly reasonable.

New Autumn Coats

Women seeking the latest in new coats will find plenty of appealing models from our showing made chiefly of pom pom, bolivia, velour, kersey and plush.

William Farquarson was arrested by Chief Sinclair yesterday on a complaint made to State's Attorney Earle R. Davis, charging him with non-support. Farquarson was arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott in city court, but when he arranged to pay his family a fixed sum every week, the taking of a plea was deferred.

Four respondents, locked up Saturday on intoxication charges, poured nearly $100 into the city court coffers yesterday when arraigned before Magistrate H. W. Scott. The quartet consisted of James W. Fuery, Andrew A. Garin, Louis Provencher and William A. Williams, all of Barre, each of whom was charged with a subsequent offense. Each man was fined $15 and costs aggregating $8.50. Yesterday was a quiet day in police circles, not an arrest being made for intoxication.

Through the week end the police were asked to furnish patrols for premises on Granite and River streets where poliomyelitis has developed. Both patients are young children, one living at 14 1/2 Granite street and the other at 120 River street. Together with the case which developed a week ago in the family of the Salvation Army Ensign on Brooklyn street, the two more recent cases make a total of 14 which have been recorded in Barre since the malady appeared in July.

Camel's Hump was the destination of 22 young men and young women of the Presbyterian Bible class who set out for the mountain in motor trucks Monday morning under the leadership of their pastor, Rev. Edgar Crossland. The McFarland and Norris trucks were used to make the trip to Callahan's at the base of the mountain, and the second lap, the arduous climb up steep slopes, was under way shortly after 9 o'clock. Clear skies favored the mountain climbers once they reached the summit of the Hump and through a pair of strong binoculars they were able to discern the Barre granite quarries in one direction and the Champlain valley stretching away to the north. Forest rangers who are abiding on the slopes while the danger of mountain fires continue say that the wet weather has kept the registration of Hump climbers well down this year, the total falling short of the average by some 200. The Barre party had an Indian dinner on the summit and descended in the later afternoon, arriving in the city soon after dusk.

Accommodations at Hotel Barre were taxed through the week end and holiday arrivals including many motor parties. Among the registrations were: Mr. and Mrs. James C. Gismond, Howard E. Gismond and John Auerbach and family of Leona, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dean of Montreal, P. Q., Mrs. William H. Staples of Saranac Lake, N. Y., and Mrs. Audrey Bothomely and chauffeur of Brooklyn, N. Y., B. H. Richards, Miss Myrtle Richards of Lowell, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Slade of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Mae F. Miller of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Heywood of Waterbury, Conn., Omer P. Theriault of Salem, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Caxleton of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Locke, Misses R. B. M. B. and G. M. Locke, Master Marshall W. Lock of Newton, Mass., W. O. Stiles of Cambridge, Mass., Samuel G. Nash, Miss Ethel Y. Nash of Brookline, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Glass and children of Springfield, R. H. Miner of Windsor, Rev. Ray Albertson of Bridgeton, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hargh of Brattleboro, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moulton of White River Junction, H. F. Reilly, C. L. Dickinson, Mrs. F. M. An impressive feature of the morning service in the First Presbyterian church Sunday was the unveiling of a framed scroll in the lobby of the church on which are printed the names of the young men of the parish who have offered their all in the cause of the allies and democracy. Appropriate reference to the service which these young men are performing was made in the sermon by the pastor, Rev. Edgar Crossland. Owing to the absence of the president of the session the formal transfer of the roll of honor to the church was not made. Follows a list of the young men who have enrolled from the church: George C. Stewart, Canadian army; Wilfred Lovie, 1st Vermont regiment; Douglas H. Newcomb, 1st Vermont regiment; Leon F. Nixon, U. S. navy; James A. Webster, Canadian contingent; Charles H. G. Riddell, 1st Vermont regiment; Cecil J. Dowers, 1st Vermont regiment; Raymond J. Arkley, U. S. navy; Alex. Hall and Robert Webster, 1st Vermont regiment. The following names are to be added to the scroll: James Beattie, British army; William Beattie, U. S. navy; Donald McDonald, 1st Vermont regiment; James and Charles Robertson, Canadian contingent.
